1. On 19 June 1952 Democracia, Chilean Communist publication, carried an article with the headline: "Germans in Chile Do Not Accept the Domination of Their Country." The article described conditions in the Western Zone of Germany and ended by inviting all Germans who agreed with the Communist position to get in touch in person or by letter with Democracia, Calle Valentin Letelier 1336, Santiago.
2. It appears that there is a group of German Communists in Chile who have contact with the Russian and German Communists in the Eastern Zone of Germany. The Chilean group is being maintained in great secrecy and is attempting to get in touch with other German Communists by means of the invitation published in Democracia. The article was written by members of the German group. Replies to the invitation reportedly are forwarded by Democracia to the group in Chile.
3. The name of the group, its address, number of members, and purpose have not yet been determined.
